YouthWorker Planning Calendar

This Youthworker Planning Calendar is designed to help assist you in recognizing needs and expressing them to your ministry team. This is also set up to help you categorize tasks that are needed for your ministry. Now, we cannot fill in the blanks here, but if you do you will have a robust packet of information to distribute to your leaders to help empower them in living into the ministries God is calling them to. You are then able to spend time supporting them and doing more relational ministry..

How these work? The planning calendar is for you to use to identify tasks that need to be done that are within 3, 8, and 12 months ahead of you. Certainly there are things you might need to get done 'this week' but once you get to planning ahead in this manner those 'this week' items will become easier to manage with less time of administration and more time for relational ministry. Also, if you have them outlined ahead of time, if someone asks "How can I help you?" you will have a plethora of answers that are actually helpful, not just stuff you made up.

The Yearly Calendar is goes that one step further than just stating what we have on our calendar, it puts down things that are needed. Maybe you can't fill these out completely, but if you can put a few things in here then parents / leaders can see spots where they can jump in and help out.

This is perfect for those parents who cannot see themselves ministering with the kids on a week to week basis but are happy to cook a meal, organize some phone calls, or other important infrastructure task.

We've put in some examples to each segment to give you some idea how all this works. If you have suggestions to add to this resource feel free to email us. We are always looking to keep our content relevant to the constant reshaping of youth ministry.
